August Beginnings . . .

We are entering the most active part of this year's hurricane season, and it's crucial that all of us take steps to protect ourselves, our loved ones and our homes. If you don't already have a personal/family plan for hurricanes, be sure to make that a top priority. That means having water and basic supplies on hand, agreeing on an out-of-state contact that everyone can reach by phone or text, and if necessary, making advance arrangements for your pets.

It's hard to believe summer is already winding down, but Palm Beach County Schools open soon. The state sales tax holiday on school clothes and supplies is Aug 2-6. Remember to drive carefully and avoid using hand-held electronic devices in school and construction zones. It's the law – and it protects children, road workers, first responders, and you! from the riskiest kinds of distracted driving.

My staff and I are working to represent you and District 91's interests every day – and we want you to know we're here for you. If you need help or have questions, don't hesitate to contact our office.

Stock Up for Hurricanes!

Florida's hurricane season is most dangerous in its final months – the ones we are now in. It's more important than ever to be hurricane-ready:

- Water
- Non-perishable food
- First-aid kit and personal/hygiene supplies
- Batteries, basic tools, cleaning items, cash

Look at the complete emergency check list in the “Official Palm Beach County Hurricane Planning Guide.” Along with a to-do list and where-to-find-help advisories, a checklist of essential supplies is available to read or download from www.pbcready.com

Don't Text while Driving!

Until the first of next year, state patrol officers, as well as local police and sheriff's department officials are issuing warning tickets for those stopped while texting and driving. The new law making texting while driving a primary offense went into effect July 1. It provides for an education period and warnings until Jan. 1, then enforcement with fines after that.
