Paying a Fine for Missing Jury Duty? It's a Scam!

Jury duty is an important civic responsibility, and scammers know it. That's why jury scams have become a favorite tactic for criminals trying to scare people into handing over money or personal information.

In a typical juror summons scam, someone calls pretending to be from the Sheriff's office and claims you missed jury duty. They will say there is a warrant for your arrest and demand that you pay a fine immediately to "clear it up."

We will never call you to demand payment over the phone or threaten to have you arrested for missing jury duty.
